

Design Architect

Seattle's leading hospitality design firm is seeking architects who are looking to advance their career in a creative environment dedicated to design excellence.

We are a design-oriented, medium sized firm specializing in hotel, resort and multi-family projects throughout the United States. In keeping with our concept of integrated architecture and interior design, we are looking for professionals who are comfortable working in both.

Our standard for excellence begins with our people. We are looking for people who naturally possess D&D DNA (See Team Page on our website), personal values that drive professional success.

We offer a flexible, family-friendly work environment with competitive compensation and benefit's package.

Our current need is for a Design Architect to participate in creating and developing the initial concepts for both exterior and interior architectural projects. Proficiency in SketchUp is required as our design methodology is heavily dependent on 3D visualization from the start.
